

Mr. Rekve holds a Master's Degree in Business and Economics and has in addition studies in psychology, addiction behavior and as a naval officer. He has been working for WHO the last 15 years. He has previously worked as a Senior Adviser on alcohol and drugs for the Government of Norway, as the Programme Manager on Alcohol and Drugs in the WHO European Region and has additional work experience as a clinical counsellor in a treatment facility, as a municipal drug adviser, as the director of a national prevention campaign and as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Royal Norwegian Navy. He has been in the secretarial team of numerous policy papers and reports on substance use at local, national and international levels, including executive editor of the 2014 and 2018 WHO Global status report on alcohol and health together with Dr Vladimir Poznyak.